It's never been more challenging for private equity firms to create value within their portfolio (a crucial metric for any exit strategy). Financial engineering is no longer enough, these firms now have to focus on operational improvements, through digital transformation and enterprise automation, to generate return.

Value Creation for Private Equity 2025 bridges the gap between decision makers and transformation vendors, offering a value-packed platform for value creation leaders and industry players to share insights, navigate complexities, and tackle the most pressing challenges.
